Exploring the Substrands of the Social-Emotional Development Domain

- Did you discover any differences in your responses that were the result of differences in culture or values?
- What are some ways that cultural variation could influence how we see children's development?

Exploring the Substrands of the Social-Emotional Development Domain

- How could language development in English for a child whose home language is not English influence that child's development?

Exploring the Substrands of the Social-Emotional Development Domain

- Did you think about things that you had not thought about before?
- How would development of these substrands help children in later life?
- How would these be related to later academic and personal success?
- What is the value to society of having children develop these foundations?
